

BROOKLYN_BORN

 Change Banner Image

154,944
SparkPoints

-  Info
-  Photos
-  Feed
-  Blogs
-  Awards
- More

Like Mother, Like Daughter - Parenting Styles

Wednesday, September 09, 2015

 Add a Blog Entry

See Today's Featured Member Blog Posts

More Blogs by BROOKLYN_BORN

Now I can add one more event to my "Anniversary Dates" to forget - 6/7/2021

Avoiding Our Wedding Anniversary - 6/4/2021

Multitasking for Safety – Plus Remembrance and Reflection - 6/1/2021

Taps Across America – The National Moment of Remembrance - Monday 5/31/21 3PM - 5/30/2021

View All >

DD#1 (Hayburner1969) & I made this video in 2007 to describe our solution to a common problem. The grandkids got a kick out of seeing their younger selves. They're teenagers now.

The background music is being played by DD#1.

Edit:

Oops: It doesn't want to play. I've got some research to do.

OK - I think it's OK now.

Edit Blog Entry | Delete Blog Entry

Share This Post With Others

Report Inappropriate Blog

Member Comments About This Blog Post

WILSONWR

That was cute! Great job on the film editing!
2092 days ago

HAYBURNER1969

Oh my goodness, how little they were! My sweet little babies.
2099 days ago

WUMPASTAR

Oh my, how adorable they are (were? lol)! And you talk so much like a TEACHER!
2100 days ago

GINIEMIE

For me the stuff just disappeared in a bag in the back of the garage/van until mommy thought they could have them back. Daddy however blew it a few times with "look what I found in the garage/van" dumping them on the family room floor.

I did have the children go through toys they weren't using and decide if they should go in the "save for the baby", the "Garage sale box" or the "goodwill" box. With 5 children in a three bedroom house we did that 3-4 times a year. Sometimes they would give it to a friend who fell in love with the toy when they came to play.

The only thing I never through away were legos unless they were broken beyond use.

I like your plan and think I'll share it with my sons.

2100 days ago

NUMD97

Loved it! Had to toddle over to the desktop to view this, as it refused to play on the iPad. At least your lessons were two-fold: It instills a sense of charity as well. My BIL was much more brutal, much to my consternation, when my younger nephew misbehaved, he lost forever (into the garbage) a beloved toy drill we had bought for him.

Cause and effect. He learned them well. I wonder how he will apply that to his own three very small tots when the time comes?

2101 days ago

PRNCSCUP1-2FULL

Awesome! Thanks for sharing. Too cute. You and your entire family are so talented and creative!

2101 days ago

ONEKIDSMOM

Love it! My mom used to "confiscate" toys when they didn't get picked up. They didn't reappear until MONTHS later! If ever... I think I like the Good Will box! Wonder if cats would respond... nawwww!

2101 days ago

WATERMELLEN

How sweet is that!!! Just loved watching it!!

2101 days ago

DOVESEYES

2101 days ago

MARYJEANSL

Oh, I loved this! I only wish it would work for me now...

2101 days ago

STRIVERONE

That's great parenting.

2101 days ago

TERI-RIFIC

Dang. Doesn't appear on an iPad!

2101 days ago

WALLAHALLA

Sweet!

2101 days ago

PHOENIX1949

2101 days ago

LIVEDAILY

This made me laugh out loud!! "And she really means it, too!" Priceless!! But a perfectly acceptable way to teach young children to be responsible for their own messes and to clean up after themselves. Kudos to you both!

2101 days ago

SYLPHINPROGRESS

The kids were so playful, funny and cute. Beyond that, is it my imagination, or does your daughter bear a striking resemblance to you?

2101 days ago

Add Your Comment to the Blog Post

Leave encouragement, a question, or anything else relevant to this post. All blog comments must abide by SparkPeople's Community Guidelines.

Subscribe to this blog

ADD AN EMOTICON

SPELL CHECK

Post Comment

Disclaimer: Weight loss results will vary from person to person. No individual result should be seen as a typical result of following the SparkPeople program.