Any Sparkers near Munich?

Saturday, February 18, 2017

Pianist Sparker Hayburner1969 makes her European debut on March 3rd as part of a 3 day International Concert Series.

I'm so pleased she has returned to the stage after a break to raise a family I'm sorry that her Dad and I can't be there. I don't read German but I do understand the "hausfrau" description.

Following Spark principles helps all of us have the energy and motivation to follow our dreams.

My friends family has been sent back to the States from Germany. Their son was born there. She could not get the language down pat at all. Your heart and spirit is with her. Wish you could have gone just to share her joy and seeing that beautiful country.

If you put Hayburner1969 in a browser, there are some videos! Congratulations!

Oh my goodness, I have just listened to some of her videos, both playing and singing. The Ave Marias brought tears to my eyes. She is so blessedly talented.

1. That is a beautiful picture! -actually, both, but I mean the portrait!
2. That could be the most English German paragraph ever written.
3. It would be great if there could be a YouTube video that we could all watch!
4. What a wonderful gift perfected by hard work.
5. Congratulations and good luck.

When I saw your blog title, my first thought was, "Isn't that coincidental? Someone mentioned Munich just in the past day or so. Did I meet someone from Munich or what was it?" Then I remembered your Tochter's blog about the program. So confusing..
